

British Columbia Flood and Transportation Crisis

To Our Valued IGA Customers in British Columbia:

This past week has once again tested the character of British Columbians. As we have witnessed the devastating disasters that have hit our communities: particularly in hardest hit places such Abbotsford, Chilliwack, Princeton and Merritt, we wanted to let you know we are here to support our communities.

All of us in some way have been affected by the flooding and highway closures in our province from inability to commute or the lack of transportation of goods and services through the key corridors of our province. This will continue for some time.

At IGA stores in British Columbia, we are working hard to find alternate sources of food to ensure you have the food you need to feed your families and those around you. One of the most difficult tasks was finding transportation for the products once we found them. We turned to partners in both the Interior of British Columbia and to our neighbours in Alberta. In some cases, we have started to receive new shipments of product and this will continue on a regular basis as the government works to reopen the major highways that have been closed.

As we find our way through these unfortunate events, we will continue to help our communities in British Columbia.

With respect,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "gsorenson". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Gary Sorenson

President & COO, Georgia Main Food Group Limited and IGA Stores in BC

FRESH ST. MARKET

British Columbia Flood and Transportation Crisis

To Our Valued Fresh St. Market Customers in British Columbia:

This past week has once again tested the character of British Columbians. As we have witnessed the devastating disasters that have hit our communities: particularly in hardest hit places such Abbotsford, Chilliwack, Princeton and Merritt, we wanted to let you know we are here to support our communities.

All of us in some way have been affected by the flooding and highway closures in our province from inability to commute or the lack of transportation of goods and services through the key corridors of our province. This will continue for some time.

At Fresh Street Market stores, we are working hard to find alternate sources of food to ensure you have the food you need to feed your families and those around you. One of the most difficult tasks was finding transportation for the products once we found them. We turned to partners in both the Interior of British Columbia and to our neighbours in Alberta. In some cases, we have started to receive new shipments of product and this will continue on a regular basis as the government works to reopen the major highways that have been closed.

As we find our way through these unfortunate events, we will continue to help our communities in British Columbia.

With respect,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "gsorenson".

Gary Sorenson
President & COO, Georgia Main Food Group Limited and Fresh St. Market